Facility sharing in life sciences: 1+1=3

Hosted by Mibiton

The advantages of sharing knowledge, space and infrastructure are evident: cost savings, joint innovation, combining and sharing expertise, services and resources. Besides public and private providers and users, financial organisation as well as the government are playing an increasingly important role in optimizing our R&D assets. In this session key players will address and discuss from different angles in short pitches their views on the do's and don'ts of facility sharing, including options for future collaborations in a 'round table' setting.

ONE-ON-ONE MEETINGS

Innovation for Health offers participants the possibility to schedule one-on-one meetings with investors, experts and TTOs via the Innovation for Health app. The following organisations have currently confirmed to be available for meetings:

(status: 9 november 2018)

SPEAKERS:

"Thanks to the variety of speakers, attendees and sponsors it is a unique event that really supports innovation by bringing researchers, entrepreneurs, health care professional and investors together in one event."
